Join us for this Winter Library Challenge!

How to participate?

Adults and Teens (13 and older) with a JKPL card are eligible to participate. Get your bingo card from the library or print it off from the library website and decide which squares you want to complete to make a bingo. For each bingo completed, you will earn a scratch off card. Scratch off to see the prize you earned and then turn the card in for the grand prize drawing. You can submit up to 3 bingos. If you're feeling really ambitious, a black out bingo is an option and earns you a special JKPL goodie bag! Every time you complete a square, fill in the blank with what you read or did and ask a library staff member to initial that square for you. Not sure about something? Ask a librarian! (That fills a square too.)

How much time do you have to complete this card?

Our winter reading program will run during the months of January and February. That gives you eight weeks to play!

Why should you play?

Because it is fun to try something new and challenge yourself! Take this opportunity to read something new, attend a program or event, or try out a different service or format. You might be surprised at what you can discover at your library! Of course, the opportunity to earn prizes is also a good reason to play.

What do you do with the card when finished?

Bring the card into the library on or before March 7 and show us your bingos. You can pick up your scratch off cards after each bingo or all at the end. The drawing for the grand prize will be on Sunday, March 8 so be sure to get your bingos in before that date to be eligible. After we see the bingos and you have gotten your scratch cards, you may do what you wish with the bingo card. Share it with a friend to show the fun things you can do at the library. Take a picture and post it on your Facebook showing everyone how well read you are. Use it as a reminder of the services your library offers.

We hope this is a fun opportunity for you to
